

The judges had their hands full this year at the 29th Annual Congressional Arts Competition. Pat Carrigan of MCC and Ed Johnetta Miller, master quilter, examined the fifteen pieces Thursday, April 7th, in the Wadsworth Atheneum's Hartford Courant Room. This year proved to be one of the best, with an array of unique pieces from all over the first district. Susan Talbott, the director of the Wadsworth Atheneum, was in attendance, along with many others who had come for the first Thursday fiesta night at the museum.

Ultimately, the judges choose Cara Diluvio's piece as the winner. Cara attends Wethersfield High School, taking art classes taught by Andrea Haas. Cara is the first contestant from Wethersfield High School to win the congressional arts competition while Congressman Larson has been in office.

Next year's competition will be held on April 5th, 2012. If you would like additional information, please contact Lisa Perrone at (860) 278-8888.
